LORD MAYOR'S CASE AROUSES DEPARTMENTS

State and Labor Officials At Odds Over Rights of Admission

O'CALLAGHAN PAROLE INDIVIDUAL ACT

Department of State Ignored By Secretary Wilson's Handling of Alien

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(Continued from page 1.)—The department of state was informed today that the final decision as to the admission of Daniel J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who was apprehended by immigration authorities upon his arrival at Newport News from Ireland last week, was being held up by the department of labor.

Even should the department of labor be satisfied that O'Callaghan is not a deportable alien, it is understood that the department of state will not admit him to the United States until the department of labor has decided upon the propriety of his admission.

Secretary of Labor Wilson, it is understood, has advised the department of state that he is not prepared to recommend the admission of O'Callaghan to the United States until the department of labor has decided upon the propriety of his admission.

On account of the delay which is being made in the department of labor, the department of state is unable to issue the necessary passport to O'Callaghan.

Acting on the impression that the case already had been referred to the department of labor, the department of state is unable to issue the necessary passport to O'Callaghan.
